Bringing a holiday favourite to the stage

SJTC gets ready for its Main Stage opener 'A Christmas Story'. Scheduled auditions to be held early September.

SAINT JOHN – Auditions will be held for the November Main Stage production of the seasonal staple 'A Christmas Story'. The show will be directed by SJTC veteran Bob Doherty and will run at Imperial Theatre November 24-27.

Auditions will be scheduled in the evening and will run September 1-3 and 8-9 at the BMO Studio Theatre located at 112 Princess Street.

"'A Christmas Story' is a Christmas show that will touch all ages in the audience. For some it will be a nostalgic trip to a time before artificial Christmas trees and electric fireplaces... Audiences will both laugh and commiserate with the characters of 'A Christmas Story' and, in them, they will see their own Christmas stories." adds director Bob Doherty.

In the interest of all involved in the project, everyone who auditions will be required to be fully vaccinated and bring proof of vaccination to the audition.
