The Saint John Theatre Company Proudly Announces the Launch of its 35th Spectacular Season

SAINT JOHN - Saint John Theatre Company is thrilled to announce the launch of its 35th season. This landmark season promises an enthralling lineup of performances, including world premieres, critically acclaimed plays, and beloved classics.

"This season is a testament to the resilience and creativity of our artistic community," says Stephen Tobias, Artistic Director, SJTC. "We have curated a series of productions that not only entertain but challenge, inspire, and provoke thought. We are incredibly proud to offer such a unique blend of projects this season and we hope our audiences are as excited as we are."

The 2024-2025 Main Stage line-up at Imperial Theatre includes:

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory (November 27-December 1, 2024). Directed by Stephen Tobias.
Lend Me A Tenor (March 19-22, 2025). Directed by Bob Doherty.
Dial M For Murder (May 21-24, 2025). Directed by Bertis Sutton.

Season subscriptions for the Main Stage are on sale April 19 at the Imperial Theatre box office.

In addition to the Main Stage productions, the Saint John Theatre Company also offers many works at the BMO Studio Theatre. Several works for this space have been confirmed as well including:

East Coast Comedy Pride Tour (July 18-19, 2024). Featuring Tom Hearn and Ajahnis Charley.
F*cking Trans Woman (August 7-9, 2024). Written and performed by Zoë Lina Comeau.

Several music performances have been secured for the season as well, including Dee Hernandez, Charlie A'Court, Raine Hamilton String Trio, Christina Martin, and Alfie Zappacosta.
