

Dynamic Duo Ready to Dazzle

Final Preparations Underway at the BMO Studio Theatre for the September 24-29 Staging of 'Waiting for Godot'.

09/10/2024

SAINT JOHN – We are thrilled to provide an update on an exhilarating project that brings together two of Canada’s finest actors. The cherished R.H. Thomson, known for his role in Netflix's 'Anne with an E,' and the iconic Eric Peterson of 'Corner Gas' fame, are collaborating on this highly anticipated production. Following an intensive multi-week rehearsal period in Toronto, the team is now perfecting the final details at the BMO Studio Theatre. Mark your calendars: 'Waiting for Godot' premieres on September 24 and will run through September 29.

“Waiting for Godot: a play is about the banana peel in the middle of Life’s Waiting Room! Come see what takes the legs out from under a person! RH and Eric have long been my favourite theatre artists. For a director their theatrical brain power is a treat, accompanied by such deft and deeply experienced comic instincts - certainly a director’s dream. But it is their huge hearts and empathy about the human experience that will make for a rich show sure to touch the audience’s hearts as well.” -

Richard Rose, Director
