A Powerful Look at Life on a Changing Coastline. With Robert Chafe, One of Canada's Most Acclaimed Performers.

SAINT JOHN, NB - The Saint John Theatre Company presents Taking on Water, a spellbinding new work blending theatre, music, and movement to illuminate the stories of coastal Newfoundland and Labrador.

Created by award-winning actor and writer Robert Chafe, the work is inspired by interviews with residents living and working along a rapidly changing ocean. From their voices, Chafe has crafted vivid, magic-realist tales of communities swallowed by storms, villages made of blue glass, and places that have simply vanished.

The stories come alive onstage through the unforgettable performances of Robert Chafe, dancer and storyteller Louise Moyes, and the acclaimed Duo Concertante (Nancy Dahn, violin; Timothy Steeves, piano), accompanied by an evocative original score from composer Randolph Peters. Sometimes funny, always moving, Taking on Water is an imaginative journey into the environmental pressures and resilient spirit shaping coastal life today.
